

The San Juan Star

DE REVISTAS
1 José M. López
UNIVERSIDAD DE P. R.

Monday, June 7, 1993 Puerto Rico 30c

Rights activist new Guatemala president

Ramiro de León Carpio was chosen as Guatemala's new president early Sunday, restoring democratic rule after the ouster of Jorge Serrano.

AP Photostream

Human rights group fears return to repression. Page 11

Human rights group fears return to repression. Page 11

COLECCION PUERTORRIQUENA

Main's Socialists celebrate victory

Pepe González's party wins the parliamentary elections in spite of a significant gain in support by the rival Popular Party. Page 10

Wardens keep lining up to join warehouse clubs

Ward and Sam's stores plan numerous outlets in Puerto Rico. Business Outlook/ Page B8

Accidents at work have reached highest level in a decade

Workplace safety has become a vital concern in Puerto Rico. Careers/ Page F8

Time Fonalledas, titan of island business, dies

Archibald Fonalledas, patriarch of family that owns major dairies, Plaza Las Americas, and Plaza del Caribe in San Juan, dies at 89. Page 5

A place in the sun

COLECCION PUERTORRIQUENA
NO SE PRESIA FUERA DE LA SALA

COLECCION DE REVISTAS
1 José M. López
UNIVERSIDAD DE P. R.

Star photo
Two participants in the Gay Pride March cuddle as they and other marchers stage a sitdown in front of the Condado Plaza Hotel and Casino in Condado as part of the Gay Pride March on Sunday. The hotel had objected to granting march organizers a permit. About 200 people participated in the march, which began on Magdalena Street and Ashford Avenue and concluded at the Peace Pavilion at Muñoz Rivera Park with speeches and shows. Lollipops and kits containing condoms, lubricating jelly and information on AIDS prevention were handed out to bystanders.

The San Juan Star, Monday, June 7, 1993